SCHOOL REPORT.

---

The Superintending School Committee respectfully submit the following Report:

Dist. No. 1. First Dep't. Summer Term.

Prudential Committee: { A. S. SCOTT, Esq.,
DANIEL SHEDD,
JOHN SWALLOW.

Teacher, MISS ELLEN FORBUSH.

The teacher of this school has a deservedly high reputation for excellent scholarship and aptness to teach. The school prospered in her charge, but the examination did not show as much progress as we could have desired. Having been a scholar in this school herself, she was not able to secure such discipline and order as is necessary to the highest success.

Winter Term.

Teacher, MR. STEPHEN A. SAWYER.

Mr. Sawyer is too well known in this town, as a teacher, to need a recommendation from us. His energy and perseverance in the school room inspires his scholars with that life and enthusiasm which teaches them that they must conquer. Most of the older and more advanced scholars in this district did not attend school this term. The last part of the term was somewhat broken on account of the measles, but those scholars present at the examination exhibited the thorough drill which they had received.—The method of instruction was thorough and practical; the discipline of the highest order, and the motto adopted by the scholars, education is obtained only by persevering labor.

Second Dep't. Summer Term.

Teacher, MISS M. A. AMES.

The teacher of this department is a correct scholar, a strict disciplinarian, and enthusiastic in her work. A good experience in teaching has qualified her to take a high rank as a teacher of youth. Her success was such as gratified the Committee, and showed diligence on the part of the scholars, as well as a faithful discharge of duty on the part of the teacher.

Fall Term.

The school was taught with the same success as in the summer, by the same teacher.

Winter Term.

Teacher, MISS SARAH E. ROBBINS, Jaffrey.

Miss Robbins had taught school one hundred and fifty-two months before this term, in this and other towns. She had become thoroughly acquainted with the habits and manners of children, and by applying this knowledge was well qualified to take charge of this school. The measles compelled quite a number to leave school at one time, which accounts for so many marks in the register. The district was very fortunate in securing the services of a first class teacher for this school. She did not seek to make a great show, but by her simple and unostentatious manner, accomplished much towards the success of the school. Some of the reading classes used books that were beyond their capacity, and this is equally true of most of the younger classes in our schools. The examination passed off satisfactory to those present.

Third Dep't. Summer and Fall Terms.

Teacher, MRS. E. J. HALE.

Mrs. Hale is surpassed by no one as a teacher of children; always kind, sympathizing and patient with the trials of children, she is yet firm in her government and diffuses over her school a moral atmosphere that is stimulating and highly beneficial to the young. The school evinced progress, and seemed to combine many of the benefits of a school and home for the children.

Dist. No. 2. Summer Term.

Prudential Committee: MR. RICHARD H. NOONE.

Teacher, MISS SUSAN P. SMITH.

This school ranks favorably with our best schools in town, although the scholars are not as advanced as in some other districts. Miss Smith engaged in her work with the determination to have a pleasant and profitable term. The examination showed a thorough drill on the part of the teacher and a commendable progress made by most of the scholars.

Winter Term.

Teacher, MR. WM. H. HILDRETH, New Ipswich.

Mr. Hildreth obtained the good will of the scholars at the commencement of the term. The teacher and scholars were harmonious in maintaining good order. Quite a number of the scholars had the whooping cough which injured the progress of the school during part of the term. The examination reflected credit on the teacher for the promptness of the scholars and the discipline of the school. There are some bright and active minds in this school, which, with good advantages, will rank with our best scholars.

Dist. No. 3. Summer Term.

Prudential Committee: MR. JOHN STONE.

Teacher, MISS AMELIA D. STONE.

Miss Stone labored under great disadvantage. This was her first term, and the district in which she had attended school.— Her scholars were those, who, in previous terms had been her schoolmates, and she was unable to obtain that control over them, and that respect from them, which are essential elements of a good school. Some of the scholars were taken from the school by their parents, and the school closed the seventh week without an examination.

Winter Term.

Teacher, MR. JOHN H. FARNSWORTH.

This teacher labored under the same disadvantage as the summer teacher. It was his first term in his own district. At one time all but six of the scholars were out sick with the measles. Near the commencement of the term, it was considered necessary by your Committee, for the good of the school, to expel one of the largest boys from school, and we think that was the best course that could have been taken; it gave the scholars to understand that a boy, who was too old to obey the rules of school, was too old to attend that school. The examination showed that the school had made good progress.

Dist. No. 4. Summer Term.

Prudential Committee: MR. WARREN NICHOLS.

Teacher, MISS SUSIE A. BUCKMINSTER.

This teacher was young, and this was her first term. The school was small, numbering but three scholars, and one of those came from an adjoining district. It was hardly of sufficient size to warrant us in speaking of the qualifications of Miss Buckminster for a teacher. The school appeared well on examination, and showed that it had been a profitable term for those who had attended.

Winter Term.

Teacher, MISS FRANCELIA J. UPHAM, Springfield, Vt.

The teacher of this term had had considerable experience, and we should naturally expect that the scholars, under the instruction of such a teacher, would make rapid progress. There were two more scholars this term than last. That harmony and good feeling did not exist at all times between the teacher and one of the largest scholars, which constitutes the most pleasant and successful school. The school appeared very well a week before its close when we were present. It came to an abrupt close, without an examination, a few days before we expected, on account of a severe snow storm.

Dist. No. 5. Summer and Winter Terms.

Prudential Committee: MR. JOHN STEWART.

Teacher, MISS MARTHA R. WILDER.

This district was especially fortunate in securing the services of a teacher whom they had made trial of before, and found true. Miss Wilder stands among the best teachers of the town. Her scholarship is of high order and her experience in teaching has been extensive. The examination of the summer school was indicative of perseverance on the part of the teacher, and a good degree of diligence in study on the part of the scholars. On account of the deep snows there was no examination at the close of the winter term, but when the Committee were in, the school seemed in a prosperous condition.

Dist. No. 6. Summer Term.

Prudential Committee: MR. ROBERT MORRISON.

Teacher, MISS ANN M. GRIMES.

This was Miss Grimes' first attempt at teaching. Most of the scholars were young and not so far advanced as in many of the other districts. The teacher lacked confidence in her own abilities, but that will be overcome by experience. A little more life in the school room and sterner discipline would add to its interest and usefulness. The examination of the school appeared very well, and we would advise the teacher to try again.

Winter Term.

Teacher, MISS MARY N. THOMPSON.

Miss Thompson is a good scholar and a faithful teacher, but she did not succeed in maintaining that order which is necessary for a first class school. The scholars were mostly small but the school was very large this term. The parents have not that interest in the school which they should have. There is too much division and jealousy among them, which must be overcome before they can hope to have successful schools. The examination happened on one of the most blustering days we had the past winter, and there was not one-half of the scholars present, and but one visitor beside your Committee. The scholars did not show that thoroughness and promptness which is desirable on such an occasion.

Dist. No. 7. Summer Term.

Prudential Committee: MR. CHARLES WILDER.

Teacher, MISS CLARA THAYER.

This was Miss Thayer's first term in teaching. From the progress made by the scholars, the good order evinced, and the very creditable appearance of the school at the examination, the Committee concluded there had been a good school, and that the teacher possessed the elements of a successful instructress of youth.

Fall Term.

Teacher, MISS L. WILDER.

Miss Wilder is an excellent scholar and has much perseverance of character. She was quite as successful as the former teacher of this school, it being her first term of teaching. The examination evinced labor on the part of the teacher and a good degree of diligence on the part of the scholars.

Dist. No. 8. Summer Term.

Prudential Committee: MR. J. N. DODGE.

Teacher, MISS MIRINDA PARKER.

This school is small in numbers and young in years, yet it is one of the most pleasant schools. The scholars are wide-awake and studious, and our parents take a great interest in their school. Miss Parker is a good teacher and can but meet with success in teaching. The examination was very good indeed, and showed that the scholars had been studious and the teacher faithful.

Winter Term.

Teacher, MISS CARRIE SMITH.

Miss Smith is a teacher of rare attainments and promise. The school appeared well on examination, showing that the instruction had been such as stimulated the scholars to a good degree of effort, but there would have been more interest on the part of the scholars in their studies and their teacher, had she been less reserved.

Dist. No. 9. Summer and Fall Terms.

Prudential Committee: MR. JOHN WHEELER.

Teacher, MISS N. S. KNOWLTON.

Miss Knowlton is an excellent disciplinarian and teacher of youth. She brought a long experience in teaching to bear most successfully upon these schools. The examinations were very gratifying, and evinced study on the part of the scholars, and the right kind of discipline and direction on the part of the teacher.

Winter Term.

Teacher, MR. A. G. LEWIS.

This school needs a firm hand to carry it through with success. There are good minds and some first class scholars in this school. The scholarship of the teacher was of high order, but there appeared to be a lack of firm, healthy discipline. The examination passed off pleasantly, and there was evinced a good degree of progress on the part of some scholars.

Dist. No. 10. Winter Term.

Prudential Committee: MR. P. R. DAVIS.

Teacher, MISS SARAH E. FROST.

This is one of our smallest schools in town. There were but five scholars, and two of those came from another district. The district was fortunate in securing the services of an experienced teacher for so small a school. This was the only term during the year, and judging from the appearance, when your Committee visited the school, it was a very successful and profitable term. On account of the deep snows the school closed before it otherwise would, without an examination.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The schools in town have been quite successful as a whole the past year. Some districts have suffered very much from the prevalence of the measles, during the winter. The schools have all been short, for the want of funds to ensure a longer term.—The best teachers demand, and must have, greater pay than in the past. It is recommended that a greater sum of money be raised for our schools, in order to secure such a length of schooling as will continue to keep up the standard of scholarship already attained, and make our schools the pride and honor of the town.

The Library has been kept in good condition, so far as devolved upon the Librarian, but the Committee earnestly remonstrate against the unnecessary injury to the books, through careless use. No books are known to have been lost—but the catalogue, not having been corrected in every instance heretofore, when books were worn out—a greater number had been reported than could be accounted for during the careful and repeated inspection it has undergone in making out a new catalogue.

One book, lost last year, was paid for at the beginning of this. One has been added, by a gift from N. Holmes, Esq., of a copy of his work on the “Authorship of Shakespeare.”

The new catalogue is in a forward state of preparation, and will be printed as soon as possible.

About 80 fines have been levied for violations of the rules, and have been collected to the amount of $9.90, and $11.85 have been assessed but not paid.

The Committee are not aware of any just reasons, why fines, fairly incurred, should not be promptly paid. Yet it is no uncommon thing for persons to deprive themselves of the use of the Library, rather than meet their obligations in this respect. This is to be deprecated, less from the pecuniary loss, than on account of the unpleasant feeling it produces, and the lack of interest in the library, which follows.

FRANKLIN FIELD, } SELECTMEN
JOHN M. COLLINS, } OF February 1, 1867. ASA DAVIS, } PETERBORO'.

We, the undersigned, Auditors of accounts, have this day examined the foregoing accounts of the Treasurer, Road Agent, Overseer of the Poor, Poor Farm, and Liquor Agent, and find them fully vouched and correctly cast.

JAMES SCOTT }
SAMUEL I. VOSE, } AUDITORS.
Feb. 1, 1867. CHARLES H. BROOKS, }

NOTE.—There was a discrepancy in the assets in the Town Report of last year of $1327.97, due from State for aid of families. Also, in making up the liabilities, there was left off Marshall Davis' note of $1139.78: making a difference against the town of $2467.75 more than last year's Report shows.
